Chamundi Hill Roads repaired, asphalted

Works to be completed by January 2020

Repair works under progress on the recently collapsed road running between View Point and Nandi Statue atop Chamundi Hill.

Mysuru, Dec. 12 (RK, LNY &BCT)- All roads leading up to Chamundi Hill temple are being asphalted and potholes being filled. A retaining wall is being constructed at the portion of land between View Point and Nandi Statue that had collapsed due to incessant rains in the month of October this year.

The Public Works Department has taken up all the works at an estimated cost of Rs. 10 crore and is personally being supervised by PWD Executive Engineer. Rs. 50 lakh is being spent on constructing the retaining wall on the land between View Point and Nandi Statue and no tenders had been called for the work as it fell under the "emergency works" category.

Writ petition filed in SC against Citizenship Bill

New Delhi, Dec. 12 (UNI)- The Indian Union Muslim League (IUML) this morning moved the Supreme Court against the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill of 2019, a day after it was passed by the Rajya Sabha, saying the law violated the basic and fundamental value of the Indian Constitution that "all should be treated equally alike" and should be struck down as unconstitutional.

The IUML is the first of the block even as more Opposition parties are expected to move the Supreme Court against the Bill, which ostensibly bestows the benefit of Indian citizenship by naturalisation to illegal immigrants from Afghanistan, Pakistan and Bangladesh who are Hindus, Sikhs, Buddhists, Jains, Parsis and Christians, except Muslims.

The petition said the Bill flagrantly "discriminates" against religiously persecuted Muslim immigrants from Afghanistan, Pakistan and Bangladesh.

The petitioner's advocates — Haris Beeran and Pallavi Pratap — clarified that they are aggrieved by granting of citizenship to one section of illegal immigrants by making exclusion on the basis of religion. "Illegal migrants are class by itself and therefore any law which is applicable to them should be irrespective of any religion, caste or nationality basis," they said.

India(ns) in global space

Given the complex mix of identity that the currently estimated population of 140 crore people come under their social, economic, ethnic, linguistic and so on, the term diversity to portray that mix in families, communities and the nation as an entity would amount to oversimplification of the contemporary scenario, even grossly inadequate to know the reality. One doesn't need to take a tour of the different regions of the country to become aware of the depth and width of the range of the aforementioned features (social and others) that India's diaspora wears on their sleeves. Thanks to the many facilities of travelling and communicating in great comfort and at unprecedented pace, nobody is compelled to remain static in his or her so-called native place. The term nativity seems to apply in case of rustic population and forest dwellers. While the country's densely populated cities such as Bengaluru, Mumbai, New Delhi and so on each gives one the image of India that is complex on many counts in the entire range between the affluent and the utterly poor. In a certain sense, Mysuru too has residents in the mix and complexity.

Driven by the flow of capital that the entrepreneurs command as they set shop in Mysuru and other cities of its socio-economic class, a number of features that endured for long until not too past days, include the city's skyline, behaviour of people in public domain, foods offered by hotels and even roadside eateries, density of motorised vehicles, rentals of houses and so on.

In the eyes of the city's senior citizens, particularly the sections that have crossed the age of 80-year bar, the dramatically changing image of the city, briefly described as development should be bewildering, if not disenchanting. Life of people in all spheres has got intimately tied to the digital-technology-driven mobile phone, better known as smart phone, leaving the oldies in a virtual state of illiterates. The word development seems to have eluded the lay people in all sections of society even as the budgets of all development projects are stated by Government agencies in astronomical proportions. To digress, India's human development progress is measured by the factor of poverty, along with many other parameters.

According to a report released by the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) early this week, India ranks 129 among 189 countries judged by Human Development Index - 2019, a statistical tool used to measure a country's overall achievement in its social and economic dimension. That the goal of achieving an inclusive society has remained far from being reached is the reality.

The art of ink and water painting

Paris: French artist David Bayo, has been getting a lot of attention online for his ink and water painting videos for the past three years. In an interview, he had revealed that he discovered the delicate art form while experiencing with various mediums to find the one that suited him best. After lost of practice, he was able to understand the interaction between ink and water and use the two to create incredible works of art.

"When I started my artistic journey, I tried to discover as many mediums as possible to find the one that would fit me best. During this time I worked a lot with watercolor – a very similar technique to the one I use in my youtube videos, called water art. With a lot of practice and research, I was able to understand the interaction that occurs between water and ink in order to achieve this very unique style," Bayo said.

Man pulls giant 32ft tapeworm out of his bottom

Udon Thani: This is the disgusting 32ft-long tapeworm a horrified man pulled out of his backside while using the toilet.

Kritsada Ratprachoom, 44, felt something "sticking out of his bottom" yesterday and soon yanked the live parasite free. The repulsed father, from Udon Thani in north eastern Thailand, described its texture as sticky and stretchy.

"I felt like I wasn't finished defecating, like something was left. Turns out there was something sticking out of my bottom," the freelance photographer said.

After pulling out the parasite, Kritsada took the snaps and then flushed the slithering parasite down the loo.

VOICE OF THE READER

Remembering

Prof. C.D. Narasimhaiah

Is Prof. CDN in Town? Australian High Commissioner !!

Sir,

The article titled CDN's Dhvanyaloka is 40 (Star of Mysore dated Dec. 7) carried my memory back to over 40 years with the above query which is still registered in my mind. The then Australian High Commissioner in India was on a visit to Mysore and we, myself with a couple of Revenue and Police Officers, were waiting at Lalitha Mahal Palace Hotel to receive him.

Prof. CDN

No sooner he arrived and entering the Hotel, he asked looking at us — Is Prof. CDN in Town? Please enquire and let me know. For some time everybody was silent as those present could not make out who this CDN he was asking and I immediately responded telling him that I will let him know after he was ushered to his Room. All around me was curious to know about CDN.

I was his student in Maharaja's College in mid-fiftees and I continued to be in touch with him as I was serving in Mysore as Information Officer for a long time. Prof. CDN (C.D. Narasimhaiah) had earned popularity in English literature both as a Teacher and Writer and his Centre for Studies in Commonwealth Literature had spread his name across these countries. He was awarded Padma Bhushan by Government of India.

About his connection with Australia, CDN was the first Patron of Asia origin of the Association of the Study of Australia in Asia. Besides serving in the University of Queensland in Australia in 1963, he had published a book titled "The Flowering of Australian Literature."

Perhaps, this is how the Australian High Commissioner had known CDN and made that query. It was a great disappointment to him when I informed after finding out that CDN was out of town and will be returning a week later.

Mysore, particularly the literary world, misses CDN a lot but his son Prof. C.N. Srinath is cherishing CDN's memory by organising useful and interesting literary activities along with cultural evenings in Dhvanyaloka, a very valuable literary asset created by his father.

Many Happy Returns to Dhvanyaloka.

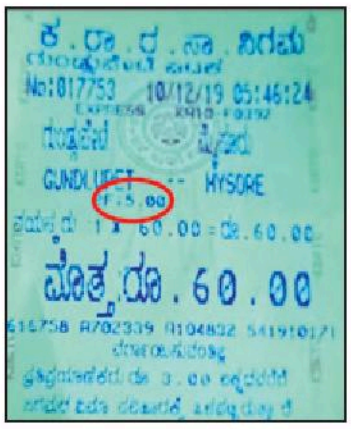
Toll collection: KSRTC hikes bus fare to Chamarajanagar and Gundlupet



Chamarajanagar, Dec.12(SS&US)- The collection of toll near KN Hundi on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road and near Yedathore in T. Narasipur-Mysuru Road from Sunday has hit the passengers travelling from Chamarajanagar to Mysuru in KSRTC buses as the passenger fare has been hiked from Tuesday to Mysuru by Rs. 5 (via Nanjangud) and Rs. 4 (via T. Narasipur). The fare has gone up from Rs. 50 to Rs. 55 and from Rs. 50 to Rs. 54 respectively.

The rise is effected for non-stop buses also plying on those routes. The fare from Gundlupet to Mysuru has also been increased by Rs. 5.

A toll of Rs. 80 is collected per trip for KSRTC buses. Keeping that as an excuse, KSRTC has increased the fare by Rs. 4 and Rs. 5 which should rationally and logically be Re. 1 or Rs.2, say the aggrieved passengers.

KSRTC Divisional Controller K.H. Srinivas told Star of Mysore that the Government has permitted KSRTC to collect extra fare from passengers to pay the toll. He added that there is no change in fare in buses plying on roads without toll collection.

Gundlupet

Passengers travelling from Gundlupet to Mysuru and back have to pay Rs. 5 extra in each direction doubling to Rs. 10 for the return journey which has burdened traders.

The regular commuters have demanded a reduction of fare to a reasonable level. However, Gundlupet KSRTC Depot Manager G.M. Jayakumar contends that Rs. 5 fare increase to Mysuru is proportionate to the toll to be paid by KSRTC on Highways.

Opposing toll collection, KRRS to stage protest on Dec.14

Mysuru, Dec.12 (PM&US)- Karnataka Rajya Raitha Sangha (KRRS) and Hasiru Sene will stage a protest near the Toll Plaza at KN Hundi on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road on Dec.14 at 11 am to oppose the collection of toll from vehicles plying on the road.

Disclosing this at a press meet at Patrakarthara Bhavan here on Tuesday, KRRS leader P. Nanjundaswamy opined that the development work on the Highway has not been completed and added that service roads too have not been formed. He hence claimed that the toll collection from motorists is illegal. He said that as per rule any Toll Plaza should not detain a vehicle for more than three minutes and pointed out that vehicles are being detained for 15 to 20 minutes at the toll gate which increases during weekends terribly inconveniencing the tourists in particular.

KRRS District Convenor Nanjegowda claimed that 'FASTag' system introduced by the Central Government is unscientific. He contended that the public is already burdened by over 15 to 20 types of taxes including GST coupled with Road Tax. Hence he urged immediate withdrawal of toll collection on Highways.

KRRS District President Vidyasagar, office-bearers Manjesh Gowda, Himmavu Raghu and others were present at the press meet.

Rally against online sale of medicines

Mysuru, Dec. 12 (PM&KS) - A protest rally, organised by Indian Pharmaceutical Association, Mysore Branch, against online sale of medicines and amendments to Schedule K of Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, 1945 was taken out in city yesterday morning.

The rally consisting members of Indian Pharmaceutical Association, Mysore Branch, Mysore District Chemists and Druggists Association, students of JSS, Farooqia and Cauvery Pharmacy Colleges and lecturers, which began from JSS College of Pharmacy on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road passed through LIC Circle, Nelson Mandela Road, Highway Circle, Sayyaji Rao Road, Seshadri Iyer Road, City Railway Station Circle, Dasappa Circle, Metropole Hotel Circle to reach Deputy Commissioner's Office, where a memorandum was submitted to the Tahsildar.

Indian Pharmaceutical Association, Mysore Branch Hon. Secretary Dr. R.S. Chandan, speaking to SOM said that medication errors/prescription errors (dosage mistakes) were more prevalent these days because of fixed dose combinations and new drugs and added that pharmacist intervention and prescription or medication review had prevented the possible harm by these drugs.

Continuing, he said that amendments were being made to Schedule K of Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, 1945 which makes even an Anganwadi worker to dispense medicines which has raised serious objections for the proposed amendments.

He said that the recent amendments brought out by the Central Government would allow unqualified persons to dispense medicines in the absence of qualified registered pharmacist which would lead to medication errors and prove detrimental to patients and the downfall of pharmacy profession. The protestors, in view of patient's safety had urged the Government to withdraw the amendments to Schedule K. Of Drugs and Cosmetics Rules, 1945 and encourage services of pharmacy profession throughout the country.

Indian Pharmaceutical Association, Mysore Branch President Dr.T.M. Pramod Kumar, Vice-President Mohammed Salaudin, Sarada Vilas College of Pharmacy Principal Dr. Hanumanthachar Joshi, students and lecturers took part in the rally.

Man fined Rs. 1,000 for urinating behind MCC Zonal Office

Mysuru, Dec. 12 (BCT)- Though the unseemly sight of people urinating on roads is common, there is a law to prevent such public nuisance. Any nuisance in public place, including urination, littering, spitting, throwing garbage is prohibited and is an offence under local Government rules and regulations.

But such laws are hardly implemented and fines are levied. Though it is the duty of the Municipal Corporation (the Mysuru City Corporation in this case) to provide well-maintained places for public convenience like urinals, latrines and washrooms and at all convenient places, in most of the cases, the civic body fails to do so. As such, there are increased cases of people urinating in public.

One may not be able to control the urge for urination for a long time till the person finds a nearest and convenient urinal and the person would naturally urinate at the first opportunity in a public place — like this man who was fined Rs. 1,000 for urinating at Tilaknagar 16th Cross behind the Zone 6 Office of the MCC.

He is identified as Chethan and unfortunately for him, he was caught by a woman Health Officer attached to the Office. The lady officer objected to his indecent act and he allegedly misbehaved with her.

First of all, Chethan was creating a public nuisance by peeing right behind MCC Zonal Office. Secondly, when a lady Health Officer objected to this, he argued with her and misbehaved. This made the enraged officer to impose a fine of Rs. 1,000. Not only this, an MCC tweet says that a letter has been written to Mandi Police Station urging action against Chethan.

King of the Blink

If you travel to Lucknow, it is possible that you will pass a forest known by the name of Naimish-aranya, the forest of King Nimi, on the banks of the river Gomti. This forest is where the stories of the eighteen Mahapuranas, and the epics Mahabharata and Ramayana were narrated by story-tellers to sages.

But who was Nimi, after whom the forest is named? Nimi was a great King who once invited the sage, Vashishtha, to conduct his yagna at this forest. However, Vashishtha was busy performing a yagna for Indra and could not make it on time. Nimi started performing his yagna with the help of another priest annoying Vashishtha, who cursed Nimi saying that his restless impatient spirit leave his mortal flesh. As a result, Nimi became an entity that was not bound by flesh and bone.

Since this happened before the time of his death, his spirit (jiva) did not travel to the kingdom of the dead. Instead, it got access to the divine world — the world without boundaries and hierarchies, the world without name or form, the world that defies time and space.

The kingdom, meanwhile, was left with no King, except the flesh and bones of Nimi. So, the rishis began to churn this lifeless casing of the King and from this churning, came a new life, a new King. He was called Mithi, meaning "born by churning."

Mithi was also known as Janaka, which means "one who is his own father." Nimi, his father, became known as Vaideha, the King without a body. So father and son had effectively the same body — abandoned by the father due to a rishi's curse and occupied by the son, due to another rishi's ritual.

Nimi's spirit, however, wanted to return to his body, because he was not quite dead and yet could not be alive. He did know that the rishis had destroyed his mortal flesh and he wondered how he would return to the living world. Eventually, the Gods, feeling sorry for him, placed him in the blink of the eye. A blink of an eye is, therefore, called Nimi.

A blink exists and yet does not exist like the great Nimi. The oldest unit of time in India is the Nimisha, or Nimi, which is the blink of an eye.

Nimi's son Janaka was a patron of Upanishads, dialogues of wise men that speak of the jiva and atma in great detail. He is also the father of Sita. His region of Mithila has its own literature and is popular in the Indo-Nepal border.

In Buddhism, Nimi is the King who retired as soon as his barber told him he had sprouted a grey hair. His descendants too, would follow this practice. Indra, King of paradise, sent his celestial chariot to fetch Nimi to heaven, but Nimi decided to first visit hell before going to heaven. And in that journey through many hells and many heavens, he learned about karma — how good things make us rise to higher realms and bad behaviour makes us fall to lower realms.

He shared this knowledge with the Gods and with his subjects. Thus, Nimi was clearly an ancient Indian King revered by Hindus and Buddhists associated with knowledge, packaged as stories that transforms material beings into spiritual beings.

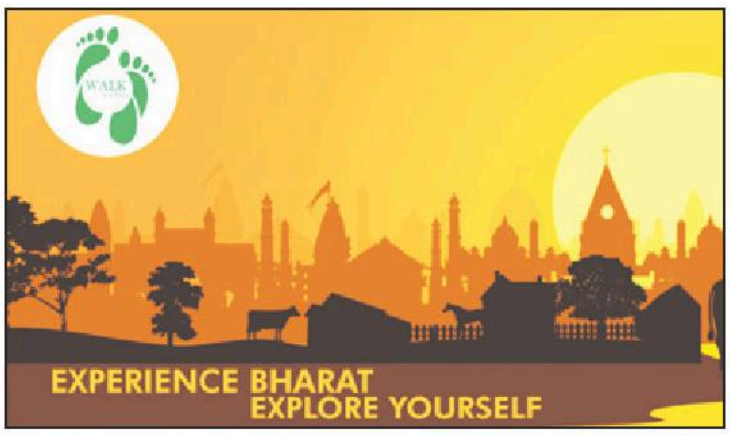
Experience Bharat; Explore Yourself...

Walk Within, an 8-day walk through rural Bharat from Dec. 22

Mysuru, Dec.12- Swami Vivekananda Youth Movement (SVYM) and Grassroots Research and Advocacy Movement (GRAAM), Mysuru, are embarking on a unique "Walk" titled "Walk-Within" — a walk that will help participants experience Bharat and explore their own selves during the last week of December 2019.



"Walk Within" is an 8-day walk traversing 41 villages in and around Mysuru, covering approximately 114 kms. Led by Dr. R. Balasubramaniam, Founder, SVYM and GRAAM, the walk will begin on Dec. 22 and conclude on Dec. 29.

Why the Walk: There are three broad issues that confront us as a people, culture and civilisation — the first is the ecological destruction in the name of economic development and the associated challenge of balancing development with sustainability.

The second is societal apathy towards things that matter and a widening divide between the haves and have-nots, rural and urban populations, rulers and the ruled, the educated and the not-so educated.

The third issue is at the level of the individual — a shallow and superficial understanding of one's own "Self" and its place in the web of interconnected life — where does the problem lie and how does one start to address each of these?

A beginning can be made if there is an understanding that these three issues that appear to be disparate are actually intimately connected primarily at the level of the individual "Self."

This 8-day walk is one such attempt to see if a few young potential "change-makers" can be identified and sensitised about the need to engage with society.

This walk and the interwoven talks by someone who has "been there" and "done it" will provide participants with an opportunity to reflect, question, pause and ponder over what development actually means, what it means to be poor, what it takes to build human and social Capital, and what it means to truly democratise development.

Mysuru Kodava Samaja keeping tradition alive by hosting 'Puthari' get-together

Members of Kodava Samaja, Mysuru, reaping the paddy crop at Cauvery School premises in Kuvempunagar last night.

Kodagu Gowda Samaja members after harvesting the new paddy.

Mysuru, Dec. 12- Huthri or Puthari festival was celebrated with grandeur and traditional fervour in Mysuru and Kodagu districts yesterday. It is a festival of harvest and getting the harvested paddy crop home.

Kodavas and members of Kodagu Gowda community visited paddy fields in their traditional attire and harvested the new crop after offering prayers.

The festival is observed either in the month of November or December on full moon day of Rohini Nakshatra. Before harvesting, they chanted 'Poli Poli Deva,' fired three times in the air and burst crackers.

In Mysuru, the celebrations were organised by Mysuru Kodava Samaja at Sree Cauvery Educational Institutions premises in Kuvempunagar while members of Kodagu Gowda community celebrated the fest at their Samaja premises in Vijayanagar.

The celebrations started at Cauvery School at 5.30 pm with performance of traditional Kodava dances by both men and women including small children.

'Nere kattuva' ritual was held at 7.35 pm followed by reaping of new paddy crop at 8.35 pm and distribution of thambutt prasada (a unique pudding made of ripe banana, coconut, jaggery/sugar, sesame, cardamom, ghee and roasted boiled rice flour) at 9.35 pm.

The menfolk, wearing their traditional attire complete with Kuppiya - Chele, Mande Thuni and Peeche Kathi and the saree-clad women accompanied by girl children holding Thaliathakki Bolcha (a bronze tray with rice, betel leaves, arecanut and a lamp) marched to the nearby fields to reap the paddy crop. The festival marks bringing home the new paddy crop from the fields, symbolic of welcome to Goddess Lakshmi, who is the presiding deity of wealth.

A festival primarily confined to Kodagu in the past is now being celebrated in cities too where there is a considerable population of Kodavas. And Mysuru Kodava Samaja has been striving to keep the tradition alive by hosting the Puthari Eedu and Festival get-together annually.

Puthari Eedu was held for five days from Dec.6 to Dec.10 daily at 6 pm at the Kodava Samaja premises in Vijayanagar where traditional Kodava dances are practiced with the cultural troupe members and new-comers, according to Kekada M. Belliappa, President and Malachira M. Ponnappa, Hon. Secretary of Kodava Samaja, Mysuru. Hundreds of Kodavas attended the celebrations in city last evening. On the occasion, the Samaja felicitated the men's cultural troupe that won prize in the competition held at Balugodu Samaja recently.

Chamundi Hill Roads repaired, asphalted

The road from Uthanahalli Junction on Nanjangud Road that links Chamundi Hill Main Road is being repaired. The existing 3.45-metre road is being widened to 5.5 metres at an estimated cost of Rs. 1.2 crore.

Fifty percent of works have been completed and the officials are hoping to complete the retaining wall works by the end of this month. The retaining wall is 25 feet high and 70 feet wide and covers all the portion of the land that had caved in.

A 10-feet concrete base has been set up to withstand the weight of the retaining wall and the contractor is using Raft Concrete Technology with concrete and iron roads — for stability and sturdiness — to complete the works. The curing part of the works will take time as the concrete needs to set, said Dasharath, the work contractor.

As the works on the road is quickly under progress, the stretch between View Point and Nandi Statue has been closed for vehicular and human movement. An immediate fallout of this is that business atop the Nandi Statue and surrounding areas has been paralysed with no takers for the wares sold by vendors.

Following the land caving in and the PWD officials taking up the construction of the retaining wall, PWD authorities decided to take up works on other dilapidated roads around the Hill. Also, Mysuru District Minister V. Somanna had directed the officials to take up other roads leading up to the Hill. The roads were ridden with potholes and were in pathetic condition. It was a nightmare to commute on these roads.

Works have begun on asphalting the stretch from Tavarekatte Junction (Arch Gate) to Nandi Statue. The 2.3 kilometre road is being repaired at a cost of Rs. 2 crore. Jelly stones and asphalt are being used to re-lay the road where the stretches had become pathetic.

Even the road from Uthanahalli Road Junction on Nanjangud Road that links Chamundi Hill Main Road is being repaired. This 1.2 km road (also called the Jwalamukhi Road) has been given to Yogananda on contract. The existing 3.45-metre road is being widened to 5.5. metre at an estimated cost of Rs. 1.2 crore.

Also, the road between Kurubarahalli Junction and the Chamundeshwari Temple is being asphalted and repaired at an estimated cost of Rs. 4 crore. PWD officials said that their Executive Engineer Vinay has taken keen interest in the project and has given a deadline till the end of January 2020.

Writ petition filed in SC against Citizenship Bill

The petitioners include prominent IUML leaders and MPs such as P.K. Kunhalikutty, E.T. Mohammed Basheer, Abdul Wahab, and K. Navas Kani. They have sought the Supreme Court to strike down the Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2019 for violation of the fundamental right to equality under Article 14.

"The Preamble of our Constitution envisages that India is a secular country and therefore every law which is passed by the Parliament has to be religion neutral. No law can be passed by the Parliament if the basis of such a law is religion. That strikes at the root of the concept of secularism which is the basic structure of the Constitution. The present Amendment Act excludes a particular community/ religion... This is not only unreasonable but against the principles enunciated under Article 14 of the Constitution," the petition said.

NSS Programme Officers groomed on prevention and control of cancer

Mysuru, Dec.12(PM&US)- National Service Scheme (NSS) wing of University of Mysore, Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports and Yenepoya University had organised a State-level training programme on 'Enhancing Knowledge and Skills of NSS Programme Officers to educate community on prevention and control of common cancers' this morning at Vigyan Bhavan in Manasagangothri here.

About 50 NSS Programme Officers of various colleges in the State participated in the programme who were briefed by specialist doctors on various types of cancer. Inaugurating the programme UoM Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar contended that low and middle income continue to struggle with poverty and endemic diseases and nutritional deficiencies. With urbanisation, industrialisation and changing lifestyle, these countries now face challenges of non-communicable diseases including cancer. With diverse ethnicities, cultural backgrounds, food habits and economic conditions, the incidence and prevalence of cancer too are diverse in different geological, he opined.

The VC observed that due to a lack of population-based screening programmes on preventive health strategies, most patients present with advanced condition of the disease thus leading to increased mortality and reduced survival. He said that in India under the National Cancer Control Programme for three common cancers — cervical, breast and oral — a population-based screening is envisaged.

Delivering the keynote address UoM NSS Programme Co-ordinator Dr. B. Chandrashekar said that the training would enable the NSS Programme Officers to educate the NSS students on cancer treatment who in turn can create awareness in rural areas.

Yenepoya University NSS Co-ordinator Dr. Ashwini Shetty and Oncologist Dr. H.T. Amar Rao were the guests of honour.

ASTRONOMY

Astounding 'Geminid' Meteor Shower to illuminate Night Sky

By Dr. S A Mohan Krishna
Observational Astronomer

A 'shooting star' or 'meteor' is caused by a tiny particle of dust entering Earth's atmosphere. As it plunges downward, it experiences collision with air molecules, and the friction generated causes the particle to glow and eventually burn up completely. Most meteors burn up at altitudes of around 100 Km. It is an exceptional celestial manifestation for sky observers that the extravagant yearly 'Geminid' showers will illuminate the night sky on Dec. 13 and 14.

Indians are really fortunate to witness the dazzling Geminid meteor showers under the light of bright waning gibbous moon.

Dry, clear air will help a lot with the lunar glare, but it will be difficult to achieve maximum rates of 50 Geminids/hour even at the best sites. During those hours, we may be able to put it behind and out of your field of view. Geminids are medium-speed meteors.

The Geminids are worth watching for one or two mornings before the peak; there will be slightly less moonlight interference, and some locations will get a short moonless period before morning twilight.

The Geminids should produce a fine display of 1-2 meteor every minute for North American observers with dark skies, weather permitting. Brief bursts of activity could produce even higher rates. The nights and mornings surrounding the peak activity should prove rewarding, too. In other parts of the world, such as Europe, Asia and Australia, the Geminid peak will come during local daylight hours. Still, observers in these parts of the world should still see a very good meteor display on the night of Dec. 13-14, with rates of about one meteor per minute likely. This time in India Geminids are clearly visible in the night sky during 2 am to 4 am.

The Geminid display is for those willing to brave the chill of a December night for a fine winter shower. Geminid meteors are several times denser than the cometary dust flakes that supply most meteor showers, so they burn up less quickly. But for the visibility of Geminid Meteor Shower, there is absolutely no difficulty at all. The night sky is completely free from moon and eventually may be possible to witness these meteor streaks. Peak activity is projected to fortuitously occur at or near 4 am on Dec. 14. Under normal conditions on the night of maximum activity, with ideal dark-sky conditions, at least 60 to 120 Geminid meteors can be expected to burst across the sky every hour on the average.

The Geminid meteor shower is no exception, so the first step is to either stay up late or get up very early to observe the sky between midnight and dawn. The Geminid shower peaks on the early morning of Dec. 14, so that is the best night to go out to observe them.

To see maximum number of meteors, go to a dark sky as far away from lights as reasonably possible. Use a red flashlight for light to preserve your night vision. Red fingernail polish works for making an astronomical flashlight. Look up in the sky in the direction of the constellation Gemini. Stargazers who don't know the constellation Gemini can look in the eastern half of the sky. No telescope or other optical device is needed.

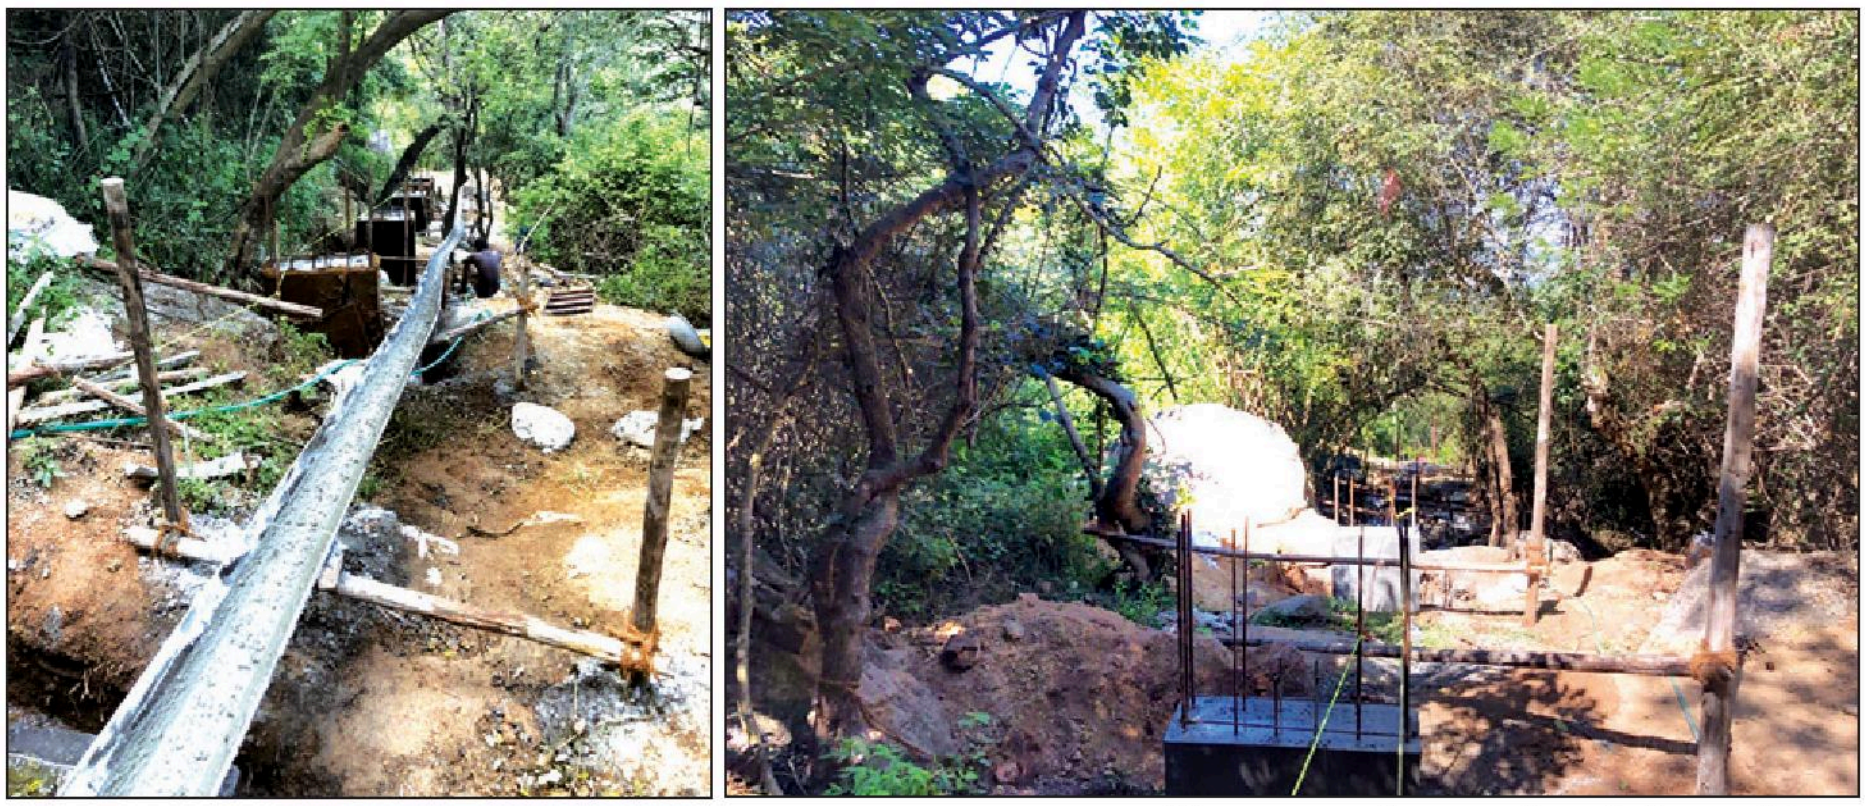
Chamundi Hill Cauvery Water Supply Project in full swing



Mysuru, Dec. 12 (RK&BCT)- The ambitious project to supply Cauvery water to parched regions atop Chamundi Hill is under rapid progress and the residents on the Hill, pilgrims and the people managing the day-to-day affairs of Sri Chamundeshwari Temple need not worry about water during hotter days.

The mega drinking water project that was sanctioned in July 2017 is being implemented in full swing at the foot and atop the Hill by Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board (KUWS&DB).

It is a Rs. 6.95 crore project and it caters to the demands of population growth and the devotees visiting the Hill till 2050. The water link to the project is near the Mysore Race Course (MRC) till where regular water is supplied by the Mysuru City Corporation. From there, water will be supplied till the ground-level storage tank at the foot of Chamundi Hill.

From this point, water will be supplied through motors to the 10 lakh litre ground-level storage tank that has been constructed atop the Hill. A 2,500-metre 350 mm DI pipeline has been installed from Race Course Road Circle till the Chamundi foothill. From the foothill to the water tank atop the Hill, a 323 mm MS pipeline extending up to 1,300 metres has been laid.

On the forest route of the Hill, 60 cement concrete pillars have been constructed every six metres to hold the pipelines. Over 38 pillars are to be erected. A pipeline running near the Rajendra Vilas Palace is obstructing the construction of these pillars, KUWS&DB sources said.

At present, four to five lakh litres of water is being supplied to the Hill every day and on an average, it caters to the demand of 3,500 visitors and Chamundi Hill residents and places like Dasoha Bhavan, Government offices and schools. This water quantity is hardly enough to meet the growing demand. Now, people do not visit the Guest House atop the Hill as there is no water supply there.

Considering the demand for water, the State Government, in 2017, had sanctioned the project. Chamundeshwari MLA G.T. Devegowda had insisted on the project as it is his Constituency. The pump house works at the foothill has been completed and two 350 HP pump sets and one 500 KVA transformer has been set up.

Along with the new project, the existing 40-year-old pipes at present supplying water to the Hill will be replaced and upgraded. The existing 11 KV line and 100 KVA transformers have been shifted. Two new water tanks have been constructed and while the tank at the foothill has the capacity of 5 lakh litres, the water tank atop the Hill has a capacity of 10 lakh litres.

Rs. 4.78 crore has been released so far for the ambitious project and Rs. 2.17 crore will have to be released by Chamundeshwari Temple Religious Endowment Department. The new project envisages supplying water up to 3 million to 3.6 million litres of water per day considering the rise in population in 2031 and 2046. The work order for this project was issued on March 5, 2018 to Ramesh, of Tumakuru-based N.M.R. Company.

WORD OF THE DAY

Jambiya

Pronunciation: dʒæmˈbiːjə.
Meaning: Curved, double-edged dagger that is worn in the belt in the Middle East, esp. in Yemen.
Origin: Janbiya, also spelled jambia, jambya, jambiya, and janbia, is the Arabic term for a specific type of dagger with a short curved blade and a medial ridge that originated from Yemen. It is most closely associated with the people of Yemen and Najran in Saudi Arabia. Men typically above the age of 14 wear it as an accessory to their clothing. The janbiya is commonly referred to in Oman as a khanjar, xencer in Kurdistan region. Janbiya were taken by travelers to other cultures including Persia, the Ottoman empire, and India, where they were adopted with slight differences to the blade, hilt and scabbard. A significant part of a janbiya is its hilt (handle). The saifani hilt is made of rhinoceros horn, which can cost up to $1500 per kilogram. It is used on the daggers of wealthier citizens. Different versions of saifani hilts can be distinguished by their colour. Other janbiya hilts are made of different types of horn, wood, metal and ivory from elephants and walrus. Apart from the material used for the hilt, the design and detail is a measure of its value and the status of its owner.

THE ODD WORD

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Jump through hoops

Meaning: Go through an elaborate or complicated procedure in order to achieve an objective.
Origin: Jump through hoops is an idiom that has been in use since around the turn of the twentieth century. To jump through hoops means to perform many boring, difficult, or meaningless tasks or hurdles in the pursuit of a goal. When someone must jump through hoops in order to achieve a goal, these tasks are considered extraneous or not really necessary. Often, the person who is forced to jump through hoops believes that these extra steps are in place to discourage or deter him from achieving the goal, to make it harder for him to achieve the goal, to make him earn the right to achieve the goal, or to simply punish him for wanting to achieve the goal. Jumping through hoops is generally considered a waste of time, necessary to please a person or institution in order to get what one wants. The idiom jump through hoops is derived from the circus. Many animal acts included the task of jumping through hoops, often at the urging of a whip. Sometimes, these hoops were set afire. Animals were coerced into jumping through hoops for the audience's entertainment, not because there was a compelling reason to jump through the hoops.
